“MILANO CENTRALE” STATION

PLATFORM 21 – Memorial place

It is the scene where the horror of Shoah started in Milan.

INDIFFERENCE is the key word, written in big capital letters on a concrete wall, in the Shoah Memorial place in Milan, near Platform 21 at the Central Station.

Our journey starts from here, following in the tracks of Indifference .

PLATFORM 21

In the “heart” of the Memorial there are four old goods wagons, like the ones which set off for Hell.

Between December 1943 and January 1945 at least twenty wagons left from here, they were packed with Jews and political opponents.

Along the Wall of the Names there is a huge display on which there are the names of the 774 people deported from here: in white the victims and in yellow the few survivors (22). The names are pointed out in rotation, to give them back their dignity.
